

MONOPULSE PLASMAGRAPHY: NEW TRENDS IN BIOENERGETIC RESEARCH OF MAN.

1. Registration of ethereal formation and anomalous emergences

“Let’s begin from simple fact: man always realizes that he isn’t lonely. Stories about contacts with other form of life and higher sense outside of “real world” are thoroughly stored in legends of all nations of the Earth. It’s especially remarkable the statement that we are surrounded with ethereal formations, which can prove in material world by ways unknown to us”. / Jacques Vallee. Parallel world/

“Madmen don’t understand whole terrible danger, which they are exposed, when permit astral substances to penetrate in their aura!” /Helena.I.Rerikh./

“The pupil: Perhaps it’s possible to take a photograph of elementals, as it’s possible to take a photograph of hot air over the stove?

The sage: Anyway I don’t know such cases. But I don’t contend that it’s impossible”. / Helena P. Blavatskaya/

Now kirlian-photography finds an application in bio-energetic research of man. Majority of researchers traditionally use high-frequency generator and regime of multi-impulse excitation. As a result the derivable imprint is a sum of pictures, as it were, put one on other, which, in it’s turn, appearances from influence of each impulse individually. That summary picture, as a whole, reflects state of bio-energetic system of human organism fully satisfactorily. However the picture of true initial state of bioenergetics of researched man, presence and dynamics of behavior of thin energetic emergences is destroyed and masked by plenty of exciting impulses, all that is drop out of researcher’s sight.

Here it’s important at once to pay attention to one circumstance. Not only researched object is exposed by high-intensity field, but so and everything that is present here, in zone of active action of that field. And accordingly all that reacts to influence of electric field too. Therefore it is reasonable that after the first influencing impulse, energy-information situation of researched space is exchanged, and each following impulse makes additional changes. It follows that for reflection of bio-energetic situations with the least distortions, that is in state, which is maximum approached to initial state, it’s possible to consider application of regime of single impulse excitation as optimal regime. Moreover it’s necessary to emphasize that mono-impulse regime of kirlian-photography is sparest, and it is doubtless advantage of this regime. And we use the term “plasmagraphy”, because it represents essence of method fully and exactly.

Long-term bio-energetic research of men with different psychic and parapsychic states (every possible healers, sensitives, channelers), which are realized in Kazakh State university and in different medicinal and sanitary institutions of Alma-Ata, have discovered a number of phenomenal energetic emergences. Its are enough different (1), but here we represent only brief review of just several from its.

1. Plasma structures. Name, of course, is conventional, because nature of its formation isn’t known for us. Actually we deal only with traces, which are reflected on photographic film and remained for us as a fact of its (plasma structures) past presence.

Sometimes a flight of single plasmoid is registered on the film (photo 1), in other cases we observe well-ordered groups (photo 2);

At sufficient enlargement, kernels of plasmoids are good visible, its are enveloped light covering of ionized gas.

Primordial version about emergency of casual electrostatic discharges in control experiments has not been confirmed.

2. There are reasons to suppose that in some cases these plasma structures emit from within, appear in the result of destruction of psycho-energetic matrix of subject and, in point of fact, are fragments of its collapse. It isn't secret that such men frequently are on the verge of psychic disorder, some of them get in proper medicinal institutions as patients.

3. It's very interesting: registration of thin-material, heterogenous formations (or substances), which can be observed near ends of fingers. On photograph film its are developed enough differently: in the view of formless alien circuits, some excrescent and bubbles and in other different forms (photo 5).

Here, perhaps, it's necessary to explain that plasmagraph of finger, which is located in the center of photography (photo 5b), belongs to women, which is long-term registered in mental dispensary. (Strangely enough, but that fact doesn't prevent for her healing...) And we see that her energetics is tolerable depressed by presence of heterogenous formations. In the right part (photo 5c) – plasmagraph of author's finger, which was made after realization of experiments with that lady. Sudden appearance of heterogenous substations in aureole of light of his fingers is undoubtedly conditioned by its transfer during relations.

It's very remarkable that at repeated photography such emergencies aren't observed as rule. In some cases, probably, its are instantly destroyed from influence of energy of electrical field of the first impulse, creating myriad of scattering plasmoids (photo 6), in other cases its simply disappear completely.

These examples don't limit difference of heterogenous structures.

Now we can't say that what it is or who hide behind this phenomenon, but in any case we can ask a question: what its want near fingers, exactly in these places where energetic channels originate and end? Maybe its are parasite on our energetics!?

And here it's very appropriate to recall how frequently and thoroughly healers and sensitives shake down their hands during the work with patient. Maybe these invisible parasites catch on their fingers? And if so, that it's possible to conclude that many talks about "energetic vampirism" isn't idle fantasy.

4. Group of anomalous emergencies, which are distantly registered on field level. All of its have characteristic: at application of bilateral photography film, its are developed on underside and look like as original, sharply contoured local spoiling. As rule, that phenomenon become apparent on background of depressed energetics of subject (photo 7).

Here it's necessary to emphasize two considerable moments.

As photography film has some thickness, that is between fingers and emulsion coating on other side of film there is some distance, that is for all emergencies fixed on this low coating we can say as about distant registration. It is firstly. (We will tell in detail about distant plasmagraphy below).

And, secondly, that is very important! – it is a question of registration of emergencies on field level.

It's possible to suppose that now there is real outlook of instrumental research of energy-information influences and interactions including some negative emergencies, which are called by people as malefice or hoodoo, and which are still considered as not more than superstitiousness.

Undoubtedly that that phenomenon, which becomes apparent on field level, is so conditioned by presence and influence of some invisible, “phantom” substation (name is conditional, of course).

By the way, there is thinking about that. Probably, many people have known such situation when sensitive says to patient that his, it means patient's, “channels are stuffed”. Maybe it is a question of that “phantom” substation, which has field conditions? And if it's so, that at once the second question arises: for what does it need this?..

However, we have said supposition about heterogenous substances, which parasitize on human energetics.

Idea about variety of life forms in the universe isn't new. Occultists and spiritists of every time and nations have insisted that astral substances are present in ambient space. At the beginning of twentieth century Russian philosopher K.E. Tsiolkovskiy have said about live beings of plasma nature. Now academic V.P. Kaznacheev insists that non-biological, field forms of life are present in the nature. There are many examples of such suppositions. And here are photographs... So maybe, its have traces of emergencies of these “different forms of life”?..

Of course, now there are more doubts than unambiguity, it must be thoroughly researched and learned – it's at hand to argue, to reject, to prove. But now it's clear: method of monopulse plasmagraphy gives uncial possibility to reach deeply in invisible world of thin, galloping energetic processes, literally to highlight many and different its “inhabitants” and traces of its emergencies, opens new passing in bio-energetic research of man.

2. Registration of energetic flows of fingers of man's hand

«However if there is something in the world that is better, than to pass away in spirit of past centuries and to conclude from their works that we are very ahead?» /Goethe, «Faust»/

Old oriental philosophy has conception about uni-bearing motive force of the Universe. In old Chine culture it is Live energy chi, in old Indian philosophy it is prana – first-born, vivifying breathing. On the West some researchers call it orgon (Wilhelm Reich). In both cases that universal fundamental Living energy or Living force, which exists as in macrocosmos, so in mircocosmos – in man. According to oriental opinion, harmonic current of energy in man's organism and balanced its exchange with energy of ambient space are main reason of good health. Moreover in alternative medicine that Living energy is wildly used for treatment of different illness and is panacea in the hands of healers. It can be dread weapon, when it is concentrated in the hands of master of oriental martial art. However everyone can't see that Living force. Only selected men can: Indian yogis, Buddhist monks and sensitives, who have this miraculous talent. All attempts of visualization of flows of this energy (prana) with the help of technical facilities, including the help of kirlian-photography, do not give obvious results. And that fact is the argument for unbelief and negation for orthodox skeptics.

We want to impart some results of our experimental researches, which were realized with the help of method of monopulse distant plasmagraphy, which gives possibility to fix on photography film emergency of these energetic flows.

In practice of kirlian-photography, fingers of researched man are put directly to film as rule, and the method is contact. Glow discharge is arisen on finger-tips as a result of excitation by field of high intensity. This discharge is finished by surface discharge, which leaves imprint on the film in the view of light corona. Practice of many researches shows that light corona of fingers has enough full information about a state of bio-energetic system of man, that is the basis of bio-energetic researches.

Some researchers do not penetrate into the essence of physical processes and give name “aura” to light corona of surface discharge. Such interpretation is not fully correct. In esoterics (and here we deal namely with esoteric knowledge) aura is meant as “thin invisible emanation, which flows from men's and animal's bodies”, and the word “aura” means “breath of wind” (this is flow) in the translate from Greek. Today the term “energetic flows” is used for designation of these comprehensions.

For registration of emergency of energetic flows, which issue from finger-tips, we use untraditional method with application of additional film, which is located in some distance from fingers.

As a whole scheme is classical variant of traditional kirlian-photography and doesn't need detail description (figure 1). Using of additional film is single but great difference (position 6). This film is located on some distance from finger, near active electrode. In such experiment it's possible to register energetic emergencies in the view of local light on the second film. And here it's necessary to emphasize that that light is developed enough originally: firstly, it is developed not always; secondly, it is developed not always on both sides of remote film; and thirdly, it can be developed not under each finger. There is example of such specific emergency at registration of four finger on photo 8.

In the upper part of photo (photo 8a) there is photograph of surface discharge, which is made by traditional method of kirlian-photography. In the middle part and in the low part (photos 8b,c) – photographs of light, which are developed on the second remote film (distant plasmagraphy). In our experiments we use bilateral roentgen film, and so here is indications for remote film: b – for upper side and c – for low side.

Probably, observed emergency of phenomenon is conditioned by light of ionized gas excited by field of high intensity, and specificity of outline is conditioned by structure organization of energetic flows, which issue form fingers. These lights are not always developed in the view of solid amorphous cloud. Frequently we observe miraculous pictures, which are, as it were, projections of different structure-organizing flows (photo 9).

Presence of isolator between fingers and film gives us grounds to say about capacitive coupling, which helps for registration on field level. It follows that namely aura proves on field level as exchanged state of spare structure.

Inconstancy of distant emergencies and visual its difference have put some idea to realize photography with the moving, to make temporary scanning and to follow behavior of phenomenon in dynamics. Experiments were realized with application of multi-impulse regime of excitation by groups of 8-16 impulses with recurrence rate 30 and 50 hertz. Effect “cinema” was created by replacement of finger on film or stretching of films.

Below is example of plasmagraphic registration (contact and distant) of emergencies of energetic flows in one of such experiments (photo 10). Digits 1,2,3... indicate sequence of exciting impulse; g and h – is marking of fingers of right hand (forefinger and middle finger).

We see that all pictures of light of surface discharge (traditional kirlian-photography) are practically identical (photo 10a). But projections, which were made by method of distant plasmagraphy, are different by pronounced structure difference and instability of its development (photos 10b,c).

It seems that that primitive “kirlian cinema” shows us that dynamics of our feelings and emotions becomes apparent more keenly in our aura (in particular, in energetic flows of fingers) than in electric impedance of skin coverlet.

Now we consider other experiment. Its basis is old opinion (also oriental) that human organism has ability to soak in it and to accumulate prana, that is Living energy. Just because centers of yoga and oriental health systems are always located in the place with clear air, sun and water. However western man has nothing against to be recharged by Living energy at any good opportunity, and he tries to carry out his vacation at seaside, in mountains or countryside.

Thus from these considerations (and, of course, plus experience of previous researches) there is a question: if phenomenon light, which is registered by method of distant plasmagraphy, is original characteristic of saturation of an organism by Living energy?

Complex experiment was specially realized for that response. Two control groups of men were observed within the bounds of this experiment. These groups were identical on line of work, but were located in different ecological conditions. The first groups contented personnel of city children polyclinic, which is located in city center between main market and bus station. Noise of city traffic and smock of exhaust gas are here permanently and in large quantities. Could say that region is ecological non-satisfactory. The second groups had personnel of children medicine-health-improving center, which is located far from city in a forestland on the bank of purity mountain river.

Once more we note that such place is more saturate by prana than city place according to oriental esoteric conceptions.

145 men (71 and 74 on groups) have taken part in that complex experiment, at this on average 40 men have taken part in each observation. Registration was realized simultaneously in two regimes: with using of methods of traditional kirlian-photography and distant plasmagraphy.

Usual estimation of state of energy by integral density of light corona was used for statistical analyze of results, which were got by method of traditional kirlian diagnostics. Frequency of light development was taken as characteristic for regime of distant registration. That frequency is expressed by a ratio of number of developed projections of energetic flows to total quantity of photographed fingers of all participants. At that eight fingers of each participant were photographed simultaneously (four fingers on each hand, from little finger to forefinger). Experience of our long-term researches shows that it is needed and sufficient minimum for general estimation of a state of bioenergetics. Naturally that stability of technical parameters was definitely maintained in all experiments.

Contrary to our expectation, results of observation by the method of traditional kirlian-photography haven't discovered great difference in characteristics of energy state in both control groups. Undoubtedly it can be explained by phenomenal ability of men's organism to adapt to different conditions.

June	0.49 / 0.66	0.42 / 0.93
September	0.57 / 0.79	0.50 / 0.84

In the column "city" has complex bio-energetic characteristics for the first control group, which was located in the city, and the column "country" has characteristics of the second control group, which was located outside of city. Data is shows as coefficients. First digits are characteristics of state of energetics, which were received by traditional method (its are connected by dotted line on the diagram of figure 2), second digits are characteristics of distant light (its are connected by solid line on the diagram).

Two moments attract our attention in these complex characteristics. Firstly, we see that coefficient of distant light in the second group is essentially higher than in the first group; and secondly, that this characteristic is synchronically changed with exchanging of living activity of ambient nature, which is conditioned by change of seasons (spring, summer, autumn). Now it's possible with bigger certainty to suggest that distant light is really original characteristic of "energetic saturation" of man's organism and can become metrological basis for such research in the future.

In return results of distant plasmagraphy were pleasantly surprising for us and justified our expectations.

We do not show great volume of all table data here, and we consider finite complex characteristics, which were received after statistical treatment of materials of bio-energetic observations (Table 1).

Finishing familiarization with the method of monopulse distant plasmagraphy, we emphasize one more time that old oriental systems of health pay main attention to work with energetic flows. So, for example, in old Tibet-Chinese system Shou-In flows of Living energy is redistributed in meridians by special methods of fingers crossing, which was polished by long-term practice. It gives treatment-health effect and helps to overtake of spiritual experience.

Such methods are known in Indian yoga as hastas and mudras. In the beginning hastas and mudras were used in secret teachings of sanctified men: in yoga and in Aurveda. Lately in connection with penetration of the part of this knowledge in temporal society, it was actively used in daily life by many enlightened men. Its action is based on connection and disconnection of energetic channels, which are good known in acupuncture.

For emphasizing of importance of hastas and mudras, and so force of its influence on general state of organism, it is sometimes called as "yoga for hand".

The word mudra is translated as a seal and means that movement or pose is realized at active participation of spiritual sense. It is suggested that mudra puts a seal on ritual as condition of sacrament. (2).

Now we can see by means of its "seals": how mach different energetic flows can be from different fingers of one hand (photo 11).

We want to show this photograph, however as and other, to emphasize a depth of penetration of Old Orient sense in the most secrets of energetics of man, in innermost bosoms. And, of course, to demonstrate new possibilities of kirlian-photography, to attract attention on prospects of bio-energetic and psycho-energetic researches with the help of method of monopulse distant plasmagraphy.

3. Three experiments

(For the question of energy-information influences and interactions)

*«Let's be more daring. This theme puts many exciting and fundamental questions. If energy and information are connected between them, why we have only one physics, physics of energy? And where is physics of information? If it's possible to use old theory of magic in this case?..»
/Jacque Vallee. Parallel world /*

«Existing of mental disease of field nature, which is such as malefice and hoodoo, is disclaimed by neglect of energy-information, field reality ».
/Stacenko A.N. New paradigm /

From practice of bio-energetic research with using of kirlian-photography it's known that any crippling of light corona of researched fingers says about problems of bio-energetic situation of this man. (Of course, this statement is rightful only at appointed, optimal parameters of equipment and at exactly regulated system of whole technical process). Mostly that crippling is enough stable and is connected with pathological process and/or morphological exchanging in organism. But it isn't so always.

A number of anomalous energetic emergencies was disclosed with the help of monopulse plasmagraphy. These emergencies include emergencies, which are developed as typical specific depression of light corona, which is not conditioned by physiological disease directly. Above there is the example of such depression (photo 7), and there is suggestion about presence of some heterogenous "phantom" substation, field nature.

A fact of registration of heterogenous presence, which interact with our energetics, says that it isn't "cloudless" and "sterile cleanly" in ambient energy-information space. Moreover many experiments obviously and earnestly confirm negative influence on bio-energetic system of man. And it produces enough valid anxiety about ecology of energy-information space of man.

In this chapter we attend phenomenon of such called "phantom" substation, whose presence is registered on field level.

On photographs that phenomenon is developed very differently: from slight, minimum perceptible thin coating (photo 12a) to thicker "cloud" (photo 12b) and so in the view of "thick", local formations, which emit own streamers (photos 12c,d). At this it's important to note that its are registered on underside of used bilateral roentgen film. This fact attracts our attention, because it says about development of phenomenon on field level or, as is a convention to say now, on energy-information level.

It was determined experimentally that in some cases cleaning of bioenergetics from heterogenous, "phantom" substation is realized quickly, sometimes at once after the first photography (from influence of electric field of exciting impulses), and light corona is settled into accordance with physiological state.

Beside, probably, in connection with this circumstance, some users of multi-impulse regime recommend to use exposure time not less 0,2-0,4 seconds (3). However it is necessary to know and to remember that during this time bio-energetic situation can be fundamentally exchanged, it will be exchanged so many times as many exciting impulses. Really, we can see enough satisfactory and even good state of energetics on the photo, but at the same time we can not suspect that it was depressed by presence of heterogenous “energetic parasites” only moment ago. And it can be fairly often, but cleaning is realized so quickly and easy not always.

In other cases for normalization of energetic situation it is necessary to realize special directed intensive bio-energetic rehabilitation.

Let’s consider a concrete example.

Young man, 20 yeas old, athletic constitution, without pernicious habits, actively and purposefully indulges in sport (body-building). A one word - an athlete. He has not a problem with health. So he has not any diagnose. So... only some suppositions. He has not addressed to doctors. And if it can not be seriously: a fear, a sleeplessness, an internal nervousness?..

And now let’s see plasmagraphic “picture” of his energetics (photo 13 a). Light corona is fully absent. It has confirmed validity of his nervousness. Really, there are reasons to suggest that his energetic channels are really blocked, fully “stuffed” by some invisible heterogenous substation.

After the first procedure of bio-energetic rehabilitation there weren’t any exchanges. After the second procedure, we can see, reaction of excitation of heterogenous substation in the view of specific light is developed in plasmagraphic control, this light is registered on underside of film (photo 13b). However here aren’t streamers of surface discharge, which are characteristic of opening of bio-energetic channels.

After the third stimulation the first streamers of incipient corona appear (photo 13c).

Some more procedures – and rehabilitation is finished. Energetics is “started up” (photo 13d).

Now we open small secret. This young man didn’t address to us enough himself. Initiative belonged to his grandmother. However, she has diagnosed him herself – her “grandmother’s diagnose”, which was short but concrete: malefice! What it is – everyone knows... except official science.

As researched men said this heterogenous presence don’t stimulate some concrete sensation. Moreover, majority of them don’t feel great exchanges at once after bio-energetic rehabilitation. But later, as a rule, everyone notes increasing of a tonus, improvement of a sleep and general health. It is enough obviously that in such cases it’s better to be guided by data of equipment testing, but not personal, subjective estimations. However, this statement is validity for all estimations, when it is a question of man's health.

It is not secret for somebody that in our organism there are many processes, which remain outside of our sensations, example, such as digestion, heat regulation, hematosi... Hardly anybody can estimate blood characteristics (hemoglobin, erythrocytes or even its general quantity) and estimate its exchanges in any side under personal, subjective sensations. These components of health are practically outside of our perception. Only it is pity that we remember and care for its only in critical moments, though we fully understand its importance for our health.

As many researches show, for majority of people a work of bio-energetic system is so outside of sensitive perception and it is better to estimate its state with the help of methods of equipment testing.

Our experimental observations with the help of monopulse plasmagraghy method show that defeat of energetics, which is conditioned by presence of heterogenous substation, belongs to men, which are sickly with many diseases. However nobody is assured, and above example demonstrates it obviously.

Here is one more experiment, which determines an ability of that heterogenous, parasitizing substation to pass from one man (inductor) to other man (recipient). Naturally, the author had a role of recipient in this experiment.

Then we, inductor and I, put in twos fingers on film, and at once I make the second control photography (photo 14b). Here it is good visibly that digits 1 and 3 indicate an imprints of inductor's finger, and digits 2 and 4 – an imprints of recipient's fingers. And then fingers remain on such short distance during tow minutes, after that I take a photograph of my fingers (photo 14c).

It isn't difficult to note that light corona of my fingers (recipient's) is cardinally exchanged in comparison with initial picture, and not to better side. We see that "phantom" substation "passed" into fingers of recipient, in this result energetics of experimenter cut a sad state.

Experiment has obviously demonstrated lability and virulence of this "mysterious newcomer". And sense of known proverb "you communicate with someone – and you take up from this one" is filled by enough concrete "energetic" content.

Undoubtedly that it is not single way, on which we can meet such "surprises". Various household goods can be a carrier of "infection" (information). Of course, it is from magic field, but it is not canceled till... In any cases we must not neglect and not ignore, but on the contrary we must continue experimental research in this direction also.

On our observations today it is possible to mark out circle of people, who are original group of risk. They are “bio-energy therapists”, who have appeared no one knows from where, and various healers, gainful “masters” of reiki and other “energetic” directions... This “healers” don’t observe the special precautionary measures and they collect various psycho-energetic infection even they don’t want, know and sense it. And then they smear this infection over society as a mud. Author doesn’t trust to all their admonitions about “firing of black energy” and “deletion of negative information”. All that arouses bitter disappointment. Truly, a road in hell is paved by good intentions!

Moreover specific psycho-emotional mood of many of them, which is conditioned by enough poor stock of unsystematic, superficial knowledge – such short “esoteric erudition” and very high level of self-appraisal – is original psycho-energetic “excitation”, which is bad for them, because it impairs their non-stable energetics.

In this connection I would like to emphasize that now some authors consider a problem of purity of energy-information space more widely as the most actual problem of safety of man’s psychosphere (4).

Here are some dominant moments:

«Psychosphere of man – is inseparable unity of man’s psychics and ambient energy-information space in their permanent interpenetration, interaction and development ».

«Potential source of threats in the field of PPS (psychophysical safety) and SPS (safety of psychosphere) are:

- physical persons, who have natural abilities of catatonic influence on other persons, and the unions of these persons;

- religious and other esoteric and occult groups and organizations;

- any programs for computers;

- generators of physical fields and emanations;

- natural complexes and anthropogenic zones;

-any information-program and audio and videoproducts, which are demonstrated on channels of public use;

- literature and mass media, including using methods of neuro-linguistic programming » (4).

It is difficult to not agree with that, especially if there is experimental confirmation.

In this connection I want to show one more example with some lines from my working diary.

«...We have... we have inclination to all not-our, foreign, it is not eliminated fully - pathological independence.

We waited this meeting with impatience as a miracle. And here, in our university, where almost each week there are meeting, in the plan of scientific-cognitive seminars, with people, who are not simple interesting, but very non-ordinary. But in this time we wait meeting with right real Indian gooroo (Sanskrit – spiritual mentor, teacher). Because interesting to this meeting was special. Really, Teacher was a woman unexpectedly for me, and I thought that it is a few oddly. Though, on the other hand, and in our education system the majority of teachers, including very good teachers, are women. And it is normal. So I was astonished wrongly. And nevertheless...

...She entered – and a whole space was magically light up with her charming smile. Big expressive eyes, refined features... And what a reaction! Only you glance at her side – and her fine smile meets you already. Such woman’s beauty can be seen only in Indian cinema. And, of course, only in title role. But her role is far higher. She is gooroo! Really, she (let’s not call her name) has arrived in Alma-Ata as a wife of Indian businessmen. But in the same time she is gooroo – teacher of absolutely new trends – a “dynamic yoga”. Essentially, the name is not important...»

I was astonished and guarded by that new methodic is oriented on the work with upper chakra from beginning omitting all downstream chakras. And even omitting preparatory stage of purgation be means of hatha-yoga, which is usually obligatory in such systems. In my opinion, such hasty variant of “advancement” can not be a few useful, but on the contrary, it will be destructive for bio-energetic system, it will deform and destroy its integrity and harmonicity. And I was put in doubt...

After finishing of seminar, at familiarization with the laboratory, using good opportunity, we realized plasmagraphic testing of energy of our guest. Prognosis, as I have supposed, was fully confirmed. Her energetics was far from harmonicity, but on the contrary it was very depressed and really needed a help (photo 15a). Of course, we have delicately explained these “small unbalance” and “some overloading” as exchange of climate, food and water, and for elevating of mood of our guest we have realized séance of bio-energetic rehabilitation (photo 15b). And though her energetics was appreciably corrected, one séance of bio-energetic rehabilitation was insufficient: traces and features of heterogenous presence remained nevertheless.

And again (what many times) I have remembered really wise statement of Heinrich Heine: «Only beauty, which I know, is a health ».
